Technology of the Youth over theOld Generation.

Amy Goldwasser's article "What's the Matter with Kids Today?" has argued that the internet has a positive effect on today's youth in response to the older generation's blame that the internet is responsible for the decline in kids actually reading literature. Goldwasser gives examples on how the internet's impact has greatly affected today's youth as opposed to the older generation's views. Kids today read and write on their own free will via social networks, blogs, etc. They have instant access to information on any historical event or literature in their possession, and how the youth influence our everyday life thro the internet. I agree with Goldwasser in saying that the internet has a more positive influence on today's youth life than the older generation gives it credit for.

I agree with Goldwasser by questioning the older generation by asking, "If the invariants of leveling charges based on fear, ignorance and old media, multiple choice testing?" (Goldwasser 667) Technology is looked down upon by most of the older generations who are consequently stuck in their ways and refuse to adapt to today's way of life. Kids are more willing to accept change and use it to their advantage. Technology has provided us with the internet, and it is more than a means of communication. Personally, I had to get used to using the internet for my English 101 class. All my assignments require me to use the internet for blogging, researching, discussions, etc.

The internet plays a large role in the lives of the youth today. The youth of today has incorporated their social life into the internet, "using social networks, blog sites, IM's, etc. to write and read about what is going on with them and their friends." (Goldwasser 667) Author Juneahn states that "social network sites like MySpace and Facebook are now popular online communities with
